Giving single-parent families in need the Miracle of transportation.

Being a Single Mom is Tough Enough. Without a Ride, It’s Impossible!

You Can Help

Rides For:
- Work
- Healthcare
- Education
- Groceries
- Child Events
- Family Gatherings
- Escaping Abuse
- And More...

CARSforMOMS.org
Our Mission is to give the miracle of transportation to single-parent families in need to help them become self-reliant—making a real difference in their lives.

Without transportation, a family can’t “be there” for school, work, groceries, health care, emergencies, child activities and events, play, family gatherings and more. In some cases a car is the means to escape abuse. With generous donations of time, cars, and money, we can, together, “be there” for these families, so they can “be there” for life.

We use donations to provide free automobiles, public transit, rides, and auto repair; all with the goal to help these families become more self-reliant and give them the means to lift themselves out of their dire situation.

“I don’t know how to express how I feel. The car is helping me have the freedom I need to take care of my family. And took away the pressure I had to save money for a new car.” -Menou “Kindra earned a scholarship as she worked to improve life for her family. But when her car broke down she couldn’t get to school.

That all changed when she was gifted a car from Cars for Moms. The car allowed her to be there for school, work, and her kids.”

- Menou

Kindra Giveaway Story Video

Watch this video

What difference has a car made for Karrie?

“I now have a job. I can now go to school so much easier. I make my doctor’s appointments. . . even simple grocery shopping. I can go to my daughter’s activities at school and take her to see her grandma or cousin.”

-Karrie

“It's amazing that one tool can enable a whole family to get to work, school, the doctor and much, much more. The impact of transportation on a family’s life is almost too big to calculate. It is the gateway to opportunity.”

-Brock Doxey, President
Over a decade ago, Jon Doxey’s sister heard an ominous knock at the door. A highway patrol officer stood on the doorstep with life-shattering news: “Your husband has been killed on the freeway.”

In the months that followed Jon saw his sister, the mother of seven children with an eighth on the way, pressed by the new and overwhelming burden of being a single parent to a family in need of more support than she could give. His compassion sparked the inspiration for a new movement to help single-parent families in need—Cars for Moms.

Jon went about collecting donations of old cars from generous parties and began repairing them to give away. Despite not yet having the official non-profit status, Jon and a handful of volunteers were able to give away several cars over the past seven years—making a real positive impact in the lives of several single moms.

At the beginning of 2017, Matthew Lisonbee approached Jon and his son Brock about putting a serious effort into making Jon’s vision a sustainable reality.

With Jon’s blessing Brock and Matthew reorganized Cars for Moms and achieved non-profit status under the 501 (c) (3) IRS code, on April 5, 2017, meaning that all donations made to Cars for Moms are tax deductible. Allowing them to press forward and partner with others to help families in need.

With this new beginning, Cars for Moms was set to expand across the country and help as many single-parent families in need as possible; giving them a vital tool to become self-reliant.
Corporate Partners and Sponsors:

Google
amazon smile
Canva
techsoup
Loves
TUNEX
VETERAN DETAIL
PayPal Giving Fund
TechnaGlass
EMISSIONS PLUS LENDBASE
Jake’s Automotive
phmlife

“We’re not giving handouts. We’re giving these families a tool to become self-reliant.”

CARSforMOMS.org